What are the health effects of calcium in drinking water?

Calcium causes bone and tooth growth, together with vitamin D. Calcium is also present in muscle tissue and in the blood. It is required for cell membrane development and cell division, and it is partially responsible for muscle contractions and blood clotting. Calcium regulates membrane activity, it assists nerve impulse transfer and hormone release, stabilizes the pH of the body. Calcium carbonate works as a stomach acid remedy and may be applied to resolve digestive failure. It may also decrease the risk of heart conditions.

What are the health effects of magnesium in drinking water?

Magnesium helps maintain normal muscle and nerve function, keeps heart rhythm steady, supports a healthy immune system, and keeps bones strong. Magnesium also helps regulate blood sugar levels, promotes normal blood pressure, and is known to be involved in energy metabolism and protein synthesis.

What are the health effects of sodium in drinking water?

The human body needs sodium in order to maintain blood pressure, control fluid levels and for normal nerve and muscle function.

FUNCTIONAL DESCRIPTION

- ▶ Water is restructured by the body for various uses. In many cases, electrons are needed to restructure water- a direct energy expenditure. For example, the highest-energy hexagonal form of water is used to provide a dense support lattice for DNA while at the same time shielding the DNA from free radical damage.

FUNCTIONAL DESCRIPTION

- ▶ These electrons come from the body's own electrical potential, including any antioxidant compounds that may be circulating. Of course, we want to keep our electrical potential as high as possible and use those antioxidant compounds for neutralizing free radicals, not processing our drinking water.
- ▶ Enhanced or structured water is different. Our Water is already in the high-energy hexagonal form. When our Water is processed by the body, it often adds to the body's electrical potential. It also never depletes the body's antioxidant reserves. That's why our Hydrich Water has a very high antioxidant effect i.e., Negative Oxidation Reduction Potential (ORP) measurement. Normal water has Positive ORP (A positive ORP measurement usually means a substance is oxidizing.) Drinking normal RO Water all the day will severely limit your benefits and damage the bone and health.
